

Call.—Miss May Sutton, who holds the public attention as tennis champion, is also somewhat of a philosopher, and has given her opinion on early marriages. The opinion may be said to carry extra weight, in view of the fact that the athletic maid surprised her friends recently by canceling her own engagement. She thinks that a woman should not marry until she is 25 at least, and discourses as follows upon the subject:

"Athletics," she announces firmly, "are an antidote for the person of premature romance. I said 25 years, because I judge entirely by the nearly universal happiness of the English wives, and they don't marry young. Do you hear much of divorce in England? No; and here it is growing to be actually a distinct feature of this country. I have often thought perhaps the English girl's tendency to sports has something to do with her levelheadedness concerning men. Athletics aren't specially conducive to sentiment."

"Any athletic girl, American or English, is not as apt to marry young as the typical society girl. The society girl lives in the atmosphere of flattery, of music, of soft lights and of dancing. She is entangled in a web of romance, whether she care for it or not, and the usual outcome is an early marriage—in fact, the mamma rather help, for it is considered quite poor form for a debutante not to marry at least two years after her coming out. I don't mean that society isn't necessary to a girl's development, but I do mean that athletics is the best antidote for the person of premature love affairs."

The wedding of Miss Agnes Cassidy and Mr. Spencer Bickerton will take place on New Year's day, the ceremony will be private, only the immediate family being present.

Miss Elsa Schaefer was the complimented guest on Wednesday evening at an elaborate dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Lanz. While the dinner was a prenuptial affair for Miss Schaefer, the table and house decorations were all carried out in appropriate holiday style. The centerpiece was a miniature Christmas tree from which a broad red satin streamer led to each plate, holding in tow a tiny cupid with his bow and arrow poised for a shot. Those present were Major and Mrs. George Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Klebahn, Mr. and Mrs. Lanz, J. W. Waldron and the guest of honor.

Chronicle.—Lieut. John C. Fairfax, Twenty-first Infantry, and Miss Winifred M. Pollock, daughter of Col. Otis W. Pollock, U. S. A., retired, were quietly married at the home of the bride, 755 Ashbury street, at noon Tuesday by Doctor Hayes. Miss Carolina Borda, niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and Lieut. Thomas Duncan, Coast Artillery, was best man. The others present were Colonel and Mrs. Pollock, and Mrs. Borda, the bride's sister. Lieutenant Fairfax and his bride left for a ten-day trip in the south. They will be at home at Fort McDowell after December 22.

Examiner.—Former Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, accompanied by a maid and her secretary, J. D. Aikoku, arrived in the liner Mongolia yesterday from Honolulu, en route to Washington and Boston. She was last seen a year ago. On this visit Liliuokalani will remain in San Francisco until after the holidays to visit the Princess Kawananakoa, widow of the late Prince David, who has lately taken a house here. Upon the arrival of Prince Jonah Kalaniana'ole, otherwise known as Prince Cupid, delegate in congress from Hawaii, the Queen will go to Washington. From Washington Liliuokalani will go to Boston to visit relatives of her husband, the late Gov. J. O. Dominis. The former Queen, despite her seventy-one years, is in good health and spirits.

Prince and Princess Kalaniana'ole and Mrs. Eva Parker Wood were departing passengers on the Korea on Monday bound for San Francisco. After a brief visit in the Bay City they will proceed to Washington for the winter.

Christmas will be observed on board the Alameda and the passengers will enjoy all of the appropriate holiday decorations and a special Christmas dinner will be served.

Mrs. James Monsarrat did not leave for the mainland on the Alameda as was announced.

F. D. Cloud, who is the United States consul at Mukden, accompanied by his wife was a through passenger on the Korea bound for Washington, D. C.

Chronicle.—Miss Hamlin was hostess yesterday afternoon at a tea given in honor of Miss Lurline Matson, who returned on Thursday from an extended trip abroad. The guests were received in the gymnasium of Miss Hamlin's school on Pacific avenue, the large room being effectively decorated with red berries and greens. About 150 guests called, most of them former pupils of Miss Hamlin, among them being several of the season's debutantes. Those who assisted in receiving were Miss Cornelia McKinney, Miss Agnes Brown, Miss Helen Bristol, Miss Cecilia Kelley, Miss Clementine King, Miss Adeline Bogart, Miss Agnes Tillman and Miss Fannie Pierce. A few of the guests were Miss Miriam McNear, Miss Zillah Gibson, Mrs. John D. Kaufman, Mrs. Carl Schilling, Miss Ila Sonntag, Miss Weller, Miss Bowman, Mrs. Thomas Kurtz, Mrs. Van Arsdale and Mrs. Covington Pringle. The object of the reunion, beyond being a pleasing compliment to Miss Matson, was designed to form an organization among the alumnae for some serious work along charitable or philanthropic lines.

Mrs. Frederick Klamp is entertaining a number of little children this afternoon with a Christmas tree and at a tea party in honor of her little daughter. All sorts of novel Yuletide favors have been provided for the little visitors.

Dr. John S. McGrew celebrated the eighty-ninth anniversary of his birth on Thursday and was the recipient of many good wishes from scores of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Clifford Kimball is the guest during the holidays of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom King at their home on Piikoi street.

Judge Perry was a departing passenger on the Korea on Monday bound for San Francisco to take a much needed rest.

Chronicle.—One of the loveliest gowns at the St. Francis ball on Friday evening, when the handsomest costumes of the season were displayed, was worn by Miss Nina Jones of Santa Barbara. It was of shimmering silver net over a foundation of white satin, the hem being heavily embroidered in silver flowers. Miss Jones wore silver slippers, and in her hair a band of silver filigree marguerites. The only color was a corsage of lavender orchids.

Mrs. James Robert Pourie, the wife of Captain Pourie of Fort Ruger, will be the hostess on the tenth of January at an elaborate tea to which all of the members of the smart set will be invited.

Captain and Mrs. Marx are entertaining today with a Christmas dinner at which covers will be laid for twelve of their most intimate friends.

Call.—Miss Meta McMahon entertained yesterday at a luncheon give in the laurels court at the Fairmont. The incentive for the delightful affair was Miss Lurline Matson, who has been the feted guest at several of the recent affairs to celebrate her return from abroad. Miss Matson, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. William Matson, has been traveling in Europe for several months and has come home in time for some of the later gayeties of the season. The girls who were bidden to meet Miss Matson at the luncheon yesterday were Misses Florence Cluff, Marguerite Doe, Willmott Holton, Miriam McNear, Amalia Simpson, Jean Tyson, Helen Jones, Amy Bowles, Peterson, Anna Olney, Kathleen Ferrell, Marie Lundeen.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers are entertaining today with a Christmas tree followed by a dinner for forty guests, the most of whom are relatives of the host and hostess.

Maj. Beecher B. Ray, accompanied by his wife, was a departing passenger on the Korea on Monday bound for San Francisco. Major Ray was granted a month's leave of absence to take Mrs. Ray to the Coast for her health and his duties will be performed during his absence by Major Hains.

Chronicle.—Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spreckels Jr. and Miss Belle Smith, who have been visiting in New York, have returned.

Chronicle.—Mrs. George Bliss, who recently returned from a six months' visit in the East, will sail for Honolulu in January to visit Captain and Mrs. Castner, who are stationed there.

Judge and Mrs. Ballou gave an elaborate cotillion on Monday evening in compliment to Mrs. Harry Turner of Los Angeles, a sister of Mrs. Ballou. The favors for the cotillion were appropriate holiday mementoes and the dance was led by the guest of honor and Walter Dillingham. The favors were distributed from a real Christmas tree by a bevy of young girls. At eleven o'clock a buffet supper was served on the lanai.

Examiner.—The arrival of Maj.-Gen. Thomas H. Barry and his charming wife and daughter has brought its rejoicing to the army set. For years little or no entertaining has been done at Fort Mason, the seat of the army, and the awakening of "headquarters" is heralded with delight. General Barry is a West Pointer; Mrs. Barry and her daughter are noted hostesses, so there is little surprise at their hearty welcome. General Barry on Friday afternoon officially received the army stationed at the several points about the bay, in the Officers' Clubhouse at the Presidio. It was a brilliant reception and the hands of the Third Artillery Corps and the Thirtieth Infantry played a varied program.

Examiner.—Lieut. Harold S. Naylor, U.S.A., and his bride, who was Miss Peggie Simpson and a debutante of last winter, returned from the East on Tuesday, and are, for the present guests of Colonel and Mrs. Lundeen at the Presidio. They expect to be established soon in their own attractive quarters and will remain at the Presidio until September, when they will go to Oklahoma for station.
